Mayor Burchett releases statement on Henley Bridge announcement

Knoxville, Tenn. — Knox County Mayor Tim Burchett released the following statement concerning TDOT's announcement that the Henley Street Bridge will open to traffic on October 17:

“Finally, the Henley Street Bridge is reopening to traffic next Thursday, and this is great news for businesses and residents in South Knox County. Unfortunately, the final completion of the bridge is sometime away, so it's important that we continue to support businesses south of the river.”
