Knox County Seeks Input on Choto Mobility Study

BACKGROUND: Knox County will host a public information meeting to seek community input on the Choto Mobility Study. This meeting will help identify key transportation challenges, set priorities, and shape the final recommendations for the study.

The public information meeting is on Thursday, Jan. 16, 2025, from 5 to 7 p.m. at Farragut High School with an opening presentation at 5 p.m.

About the Study: Knox County is launching a mobility study for the Choto area in southwest Knox County to address the challenges of increasing development and traffic congestion. This study will evaluate current and future roadway conditions, assess alternative transportation modes, and identify improvements to enhance safety, capacity, and connectivity in the region. This study will support the new Comprehensive Land Use and Transportation Plan. More information on the study can be found at <https://www.knoxcounty.org/epw/ChotoMobility.php>.
