SECTION IV SCOPE OF SERVICES

4.1 SCOPE OF WORK:

Knox County School district is seeking intervention programs and resources to increase student access to learning opportunities that address specific targeted skill gaps in numeracy.

PROJECT OVERVIEW:

Knox County Schools is seeking to partner with vendors who can provide intervention programs in the areas of mathematics for grades Pre-K-12th grade.

Supports need to align to the following:

- All components of the Response to Instruction and Intervention Framework from the Tennessee Department of Education.

Evidence-based research in foundational skills of numeracy should include but not be limited to the following areas: number sense fluency, math computation, and math reasoning. The vendor may provide consultation services, professional development and/or collaborative services for school staff. In addition, the vendor may provide instructional materials and/or programming for student and/or school staff use.

This Request for Proposals (RFP) outlines the scope of services and requirements that must be addressed by any vendor interested in providing intervention programs to increase student access to learning opportunities that address specific and targeted skill gaps in numeracy. Knox County and Knox County Schools requires each vendor to provide the following for each grade band in which they are interested in providing services: program content and methodology, delivery of services, experience implementing intervention programs and the specific team for the project. Professional development training for school staff with ongoing support is preferred, but not required. Training could include background information on why this approach is effective in teaching students to solve mathematical problems. Professional development may be provided face-to-face or virtually. The vendor is to provide all personnel, materials, equipment, and supervision necessary to provide the services detailed herein.

4.2 BACKGROUND INFORMATION:

Knox County Schools is composed of 92 schools with more than 7,800 staff supporting over 58,000 students.

Two of Knox County Schools' strategic plan goals are:

1) Increasing Student Achievement and

2) Eliminating Disparities. Providing students with evidence-based interventions in the area of numeracy can help to increase student achievement while also working to eliminate academic disparities.

Students scoring below the 25th percentile on the universal screener typically need extra intervention support. These interventions are needed for students to increase their proficiency in numeracy. Numeracy interventions should have a component of direct, explicit instruction and may include multisensory strategies. Knox County Schools desires to align interventions with specific student skill gaps.

For purposes of this RFP, definitions shall be as follows:

- District: The team from the central office that supports the school teams with numeracy implementation and intervention.
- Tier 1: The classroom where all students receive research-based, high-quality, general education instruction.
- Tier 2: Extra explicit instruction provided in small groups to students identified as “at risk” in basic math skills. This is in addition to Tier 1 instruction.
- Tier 3: Extra support provided in small groups to students who have not made significant progress in Tier 2 or who are significantly below grade level in basic math skills. Tier 3 interventions utilize more explicit and systematic instruction than Tier 2 making it more intensive. This is in addition to Tier 1 instruction.
- ELL: English Language Learners- a person who is learning the English language and has a native language that is not English.
- Specialized Instruction: The most intensive interventions and specially designed instruction to meet the unique needs of students identified with an educational disability.
- Evidence-Based Research: Any concept or strategy that is derived from or informed by objective evidence—most commonly, educational research or metrics of school, teacher, and student performance.
- Student Information System: It is a web-based platform that helps schools maintain student data online for easier management.
- Number sense fluency: Number sense fluency is the ability of students to be able to efficiently, flexibly, and accurately perform basic operations (addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division) with whole numbers. To develop mastery of basic math fact fluency, students need experiences in developing number sense or in using numbers flexibly.
- Rigor: The result of student work that challenges student thinking in new and interesting ways. Rigor consists of conceptual understanding, procedural skill and fluency, and application.
 - Conceptual Understanding: Conceptual understanding refers to understanding mathematical concepts, operations, and relations. It is more than knowing isolated facts and methods. Students should be able to make sense of why a mathematical idea is important and the kinds of contexts in which it is useful. It also allows students to connect prior knowledge to new ideas and concepts.
 - Procedural Skill and Fluency: Procedural fluency is the ability to apply procedures accurately, efficiently, and flexibly. One cannot stop memorizing facts and procedures alone. It is about recognizing when one strategy or procedure is more appropriate to apply than another. Students need opportunities to justify both informal strategies and commonly used procedures through distributed practice. Procedural fluency includes computational fluency with the four arithmetic operations. In the early grades, students are expected to develop fluency with whole numbers in addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division. Therefore, computational fluency expectations are addressed throughout the standards. Procedural fluency extends students' computational fluency and applies to all strands of mathematics. It builds from initial exploration and discussion of number concepts to using informal strategies and the properties of operations to develop general methods for solving problems (NCTM, 2014).

- Application: The application provides a valuable context for learning and the opportunity to practice skills in a relevant and meaningful way. As early as Kindergarten, students are solving simple “word problems” with meaningful contexts. In fact, it is in solving word problems that students are building a repertoire of procedures for computation. They learn to select an efficient strategy and determine whether the solution(s) makes sense. Problem-solving provides an important context in which students learn about numbers and other mathematical topics by reasoning and developing critical thinking skills (Adding It Up, 2001).

4.3 FACILITIES:

Knox County Schools will provide all facilities for local training. Knox County School employees may also participate in formal training outside of Tennessee if necessary.

4.4 PARTICIPANTS:

Participants in professional development will be staff members (teachers, administrators, district personnel, instructional coaches, counselors, etc.) serving our students. Professional development must be inclusive of training for hands on experiences with digital and physical instructional materials. The number of participants may vary. Vendors may work with an entire school/department staff, smaller school content teams and/or district teams, individuals, or any combination thereof. A defined number of training sessions or participants is not guaranteed.

4.5 PROGRAM CONTENT AND METHODOLOGY:

- Knox County Schools is seeking vendor proposals for a comprehensive academic intervention system of support for the district and the schools to focus on foundational numeracy in Tier 1, Tier 2, Tier 3, specialized instruction and/or ELL (English Language Learners) instruction. Each intervention should be explicit and systematic. Supports need to align to the evidence-based research for identification and response to students who demonstrate skill gaps in foundational numeracy skills. All interventions may be aligned to address student-specific skill gaps.
- Math interventions should include number sense fluency, which is making sense of numbers, how numbers work together. The intervention may address conceptual understanding, procedural skill and fluency, and application and/or contain visual representations such as manipulatives, and/or models.

Respondents should articulate how they will provide a comprehensive academic intervention system of support for students and/or professional development for KCS staff to build foundational skills in numeracy for students in all tiers as well as students in specialized instruction.

The goal of Knox County Schools is to acquire intervention programs and resources to increase student access to learning opportunities that address specific targeted skill gaps in numeracy. Professional development for staff should address how to target specific skill gaps for individual students. Professional development for KCS staff should include training, not only on using the instructional materials but also on how the materials/intervention system are designed to strengthen a particular skill or concept.

Supports need to align to the evidence-based research on small group instruction to address specific skill gaps in the area of numeracy.

- Numeracy interventions could include number sense fluency (making sense of numbers & how numbers work together). The intervention may address/contain components that address some or all the following: conceptual understanding, procedural skills and fluency, application of skills in a meaningful context, visual representations such as manipulatives, and/or models.

The program should have the following components:

- Monitoring student progress is ongoing and is used to determine current instructional needs and next steps
- Program must be aligned to Tennessee State Standards for Mathematics
- Implementation guidelines are noted for the lesson and/or components of the lesson to assist with appropriate instructional pacing, grouping, and differentiation with preference for a 30–45-minute lesson sequence
- Directions for teacher pre teaching, modeling, guided practice, independent practice, application and reteaching are clearly marked
- Common misconceptions are clearly marked
- Provides guidance to teachers on how to use assessment information to plan and differentiate instruction
- Includes mechanisms for timely feedback
- Progresses systematically based on current research in mathematics instructional practices
- Features diagnostic assessments and a data-based grouping system

- Activities that can be used at home to support numeracy skills

In an organized format, the vendor should include sample intervention program materials, correlated student activity materials, assessments and any suggested strategies or multimedia tutorials per grade level band Pre-K-2, 3-5 and 6-12. To conserve paper, print two-sided with four slides per page. This only applies to the sample intervention program materials. The sample intervention program materials for K-2 should be behind Tab III, 3-5 should be behind Tab IV and 6-12 should be behind Tab V.

The contractor shall provide services that could include, but are not limited to:

Developing a comprehensive system of support for numeracy intervention programs, analyzing system-wide/school-wide data, professional development for staff, instructional materials, as well as any additional needed supports during time of implementation.

4.6 DELIVERY OF SERVICES:

TIMELINE: The vendor shall provide a detailed proposed timeline of training, implementation, support and delivery of materials. Implementation for students would need to begin at the beginning of the 2023-2024 school year. Be sure to address the ongoing support that could potentially be needed for data analysis and digital platform updates.

Materials and services for a comprehensive system of support for school staff and students as they implement student interventions may include but are not limited to:

MATERIALS AND SERVICES	AUDIENCE	OUTCOMES
Professional Development	School & District Staff; Personnel using the program	Train the trainer model; Knowledge of using all components of the intervention program/materials and an understanding of desired effectiveness

4.7 EXPERIENCE IMPLEMENTING AND PROJECT TEAM:

Proposers must demonstrate experience with designing and/or implementing intervention materials/resources for the specific band in which they are interested in providing services. Proposers must have experience with evidence-based research on effective numeracy intervention strategies.

Equal Employment Opportunity

During the performance of this contract, the contractor agrees as follows:

(1) The contractor will not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or national origin. The contractor will take affirmative action to ensure that applicants are employed, and that employees are treated during employment without regard to their race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or national origin. Such action shall include, but not be limited to the following: Employment, upgrading, demotion, or transfer; recruitment or recruitment advertising; layoff or termination; rates of pay or other forms of compensation; and selection for training, including apprenticeship. The contractor agrees to post in conspicuous places, available to employees and applicants for employment, notices to be provided setting forth the provisions of this nondiscrimination clause.

(2) The contractor will, in all solicitations or advertisements for employees placed by or on behalf of the contractor, state that all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or national origin.

(3) The contractor will not discharge or in any other manner discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because such employee or applicant has inquired about, discussed, or disclosed the compensation of the employee or applicant or another employee or applicant. This provision shall not apply to instances in which an employee who has access to the compensation information of other employees or applicants as a part of such employee's essential job functions discloses the compensation of such other employees or applicants to individuals who do not otherwise have access to such information, unless such disclosure is in response to a formal complaint or charge, in furtherance of an investigation, proceeding, hearing, or action, including an investigation conducted by the employer, or is consistent with the contractor's legal duty to furnish information.

(4) The contractor will send to each labor union or representative of workers with which he has a collective bargaining agreement or other contract or understanding, a notice to be provided advising the said labor union or workers' representatives of the contractor's commitments under this section, and shall post copies of the notice in conspicuous places available to employees and applicants for employment.

(5) The contractor will comply with all provisions of Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, and of the rules, regulations, and relevant orders of the Secretary of Labor.

(6) The contractor will furnish all information and reports required by Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, and by rules, regulations, and orders of the Secretary of Labor, or pursuant thereto, and will permit access to his books, records, and accounts by the administering agency and the Secretary of Labor for purposes of investigation to ascertain compliance with such rules, regulations, and orders.

(7) In the event of the contractor's noncompliance with the nondiscrimination clauses of this contract or with any of the said rules, regulations, or orders, this contract may be canceled, terminated, or suspended in whole or in part and the contractor may be declared ineligible for further Government contracts or federally assisted construction contracts in accordance with procedures authorized in Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, and such other sanctions may be imposed and remedies invoked as provided in Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, or by rule, regulation, or order of the Secretary of Labor, or as otherwise provided by law.

(8) The contractor will include the portion of the sentence immediately preceding paragraph (1) and the provisions of paragraphs (1) through (8) in every subcontract or purchase order unless exempted by rules, regulations, or orders of the Secretary of Labor issued pursuant to section 204 of Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, so that such provisions will be binding upon each subcontractor or vendor. The contractor will take such action with respect to any subcontract or purchase order as the administering agency may direct as a means of enforcing such provisions, including sanctions for noncompliance:

Provided, however, that in the event a contractor becomes involved in, or is threatened with, litigation with a subcontractor or vendor as a result of such direction by the administering agency, the contractor may request the United States to enter into such litigation to protect the interests of the United States.
